THE FRIENDLY HAND

When a man ain't got a cent and he's feelin' kind o' blue,
An' the clouds hang dark an' heavy,
An' won't let the sunshine thro',
It's a great thing, O my brethren, for a feller just to lay
His hand upon your shoulder in a friendly sort o' way!
It makes a man feel curious; it makes the teardrops start,
An' you sort o' feel a flutter in the region o' the heart.
You can't look up and meet his eyes; you don't know what to say,
When his hand is on your shoulder in a friendly sort o' way.
Oh, the world's a curious compound, with its honey and its gall,
With its cares an' bitter crosses; but a good world, after all;
An' a good God must have made it—leastways, that's what I say
When a hand rests on my shoulder in a friendly sort of way.
—James Whitecomb Riley.

A GIRL'S DIVIDED DUTY

Mrs. Margaret Deland, discussing in the Youth's Companion the question of a girl's obligations to her family and to herself, says: "It is pretty hard, when you come to think of it, for a girl to let go of the best, as she sees it, and keep on in the old rut of home duties. Take, for instance, the elder sister, who is reaching out with all her alert and eager mind for some way to be of use in the world and at the same time earn her own living; for in these days girls do not want to be dependent upon fathers and mothers any more than boys do.

"This girl says to herself that she will be a trained nurse, and, finally, a doctor; and that means giving up her time and strength to study. But all the while, perhaps a delicate mother may say, in her patient self-sacrifice, 'Here I am—nurse me!' Or little brothers and sisters romp and pull and cuddle, and say, in their pretty, senseless chatter, 'Here we are—take care of us!'

"Or perhaps it is art, and the girl longs to go away to study; or it may be religion, and she is ready to throw over ease and comfort and wealth, and even love, to follow her Savior; but always family life stands relentlessly in the way! This is the dilemma of the girl today. What is she to do with her own personality, that claims development, as the body claims food?

"For my own part, I say without hesitation, choose development—the very highest, the very best, the very fullest.

"But what is the best and highest and fullest? That is the question. I am sure it is the doing of one's duty! There is no education that can possibly compare with duty.

"In a way, this only shifts the puzzle, because one has to say, 'What is duty?' Is it to live one's own life, or to live for other people's lives. When a girl really and honestly faces this question, I believe she will suddenly realize that the only way she can live her own life is by living for other people. That is the finest fulfillment of life that can be imagined.

"But such a realization does not necessarily mean that a girl must give up her career and choose home life and its tasks, and perhaps its drudgery; far from it! Only, it makes it necessary for her to be perfectly clear in her own mind as to her motives in developing her special talent and fulfilling her ambition. She will say to herself, 'Is it for my own sake, or for the sake, finally, of others, that I want to go away and study or work?' If, in honest answer to the honest question, 'For myself or for others?' a girl knows that self is secondary, then let her go, even if her mother has to do the mending, and the children do need her. . . . But if she can't honestly say that, if she sees that her object is only the gratification of personal ambition, then, if she would reach the best development of mind or soul, let her stay at home and darn stockings. If need be! The influence of her life, educated by duty, will do the world as much good as pictures or medicine; as making statues or going off to nurse lepers!"

WINE OF CARDUI

Tully, Kas., Feb. 24, 1899.

I have suffered untold pain at menstrual periods for a long time; was nervous, had no appetite, and lost interest in everything; in fact was miserable. I have taken four bottles of Wine of Cardui with Black-Draught when needed and to-day I am entirely cured. I cannot express the thanks I feel for what you have done for me.

Hot Springs? NO!

If you want to get rid of money go to some springs.

If you want to get rid of disease, stay at home and take P. P. P., Lippman's Great Remedy for Rheumatism and all forms of Blood Poisoning, Dyspepsia, Catarrh and Malaria.

James Newton, Aberdeen, Ohio, says P. P. P. did him more good than three months treatment at Hot Springs, Ark.

W. T. Timmons, of Waxahatchie, Tex., says his rheumatism was so bad that he was confined to his bed for months. Physicians advised Hot Springs, Ark., and Mineral Wells, Texas, at which places he spent seven weeks in vain, with knees so badly swollen that his tortures were beyond endurance. P. P. P. made the cure, and proved itself, as in thousands of other cases, the best blood purifier in the world, and superior to all Sarsaparillas and the so-called Rheumatic Springs.

M. F. Ballantyne, of Ballantyne & McDonough's Iron Foundry, Savannah, Ga., says that he has suffered for years from Rheumatism, and could get no relief from any source but P. P. P., which cured him entirely. He extols the properties of P. P. P. on every occasion.

P. P. P. is sold by all druggists. $1 a bottle; six bottles, $5.

Young Women

The entry into womanhood is a critical time for a girl. With her whole being undergoing a change, the seeds of female troubles are sown. Little menstrual disorders, if neglected at the time, will follow the woman all her life and grow into fatal complications. That female troubles are robbing homes and filling graveyards, proves this. Yet, irregular and painful menstruation are often permitted to go on, sapping the life and energy, while Wine of Cardui, the positive relief for these ills, is on the shelf of every drug store. Wine of Cardui helps the maiden sustain the shock of puberty by inducing a painless and natural menstrual flow. When once this important function is started right, a healthy life will usually follow. Wine of Cardui is an emmenagogue of great power, and works wonders in strengthening the delicate and sensitive female organs. Many young women owe their lives to Wine of Cardui. No woman should give up hope until she has given Wine of Cardui a trial. If thousands have secured relief through it, why not you?
